THE METROPOLIS — 1960
SCHOOL OF PERFORMING ARTS
120 W. 46 St., N. Y. C.

Dear Graduates:

Your school life at PA has been varied and exciting. As the years pass I know you will reflect, with ever increasing fondness and joy, on your experiences here. In your own interest we pressed you hard at times but it was pain mixed with good fun.

You will remember your classmates, the faculty, the assemblies and our concerts as long as time shall last. The passing years do however dim our memories and it is well that you have recorded so vividly your life here in photograph and verse.

Throughout a life that is certain to know strife and disappointment we are all entitled to retreat in moments of reverie to things of beauty that sustain and refresh us. I have such retreats. I go back in memory to days spent on ski trails amid snow-covered evergreens standing in what seemed eternal solitude—to lonely stretches of surf at dawn with rod and reel—to sparkling streams beneath towering peaks—and lately—to the exquisite performances by boys and girls on the platforms at Performing Arts, Hunter Playhouse and Town Hall.

Now as it comes time to part we have a retreat in common. In such moments we may turn the pages of this Yearbook and recapture again and again the lovely memories of our days at Performing Arts.

William T. Hudtwalker

Principal

Dear Graduates:

After this month you will continue with your plans for specialized training. The transition from high school to college or the world of the theatre may be frustrating and difficult unless you have mastered the attitudes and skills basic to our culture. Your success in our enriched program, which provides for the development of specialized talents in the professional arts, indicates that you are fortified with the required ability, interest and self-confidence to enable you to reach higher goals in education and the careers you choose for yourselves.

Your deep interest, cooperative attitude and serious determination in all of your work will make it easier for you to live successfully in a changing world.

Your pleasing personalities and your loyalty to PA have made lasting impressions on all of us. We will always have a sincere interest in your activities. No matter where you go or what you do, remember that we have faith in you.

Cordially,
FRANK H. PAINE

Dear Graduates:

For many of you these may be the last years of formal education. You may never be enrolled in a college, but this is not necessarily a cause for concern. Industry today affords many opportunities to those with the will to learn, and our Armed Services offer advanced technical training in many specialized fields.

You may never be a well-known public figure, nor rich and powerful. This too is of little consequence. All that really matters is within you. It is important only that you give the most you are capable of—not the least; that you realize there is an honorable place for you in the world of work, and that through earnest effort and good will you can make the world around you a better place in which to work and live.

And to you mariners who would go down to the “sea in ships”:

For untold centuries the sea has held a strange fascination for a particular breed of man. Those who follow the sea know she is a lady of many moods—serene and beautiful—wild and tempestuous—sullen and desolate—and always mysterious. The sea is an order, a destiny and a way of life.

Now it is time to part. As you go down the ladder of the Brown for the last time we hope that your first experiences at sea will reveal that you belong with this particular breed of hardy men, and that through the sea you will go on to a rewarding career.

Our best wishes for success go with you.

WILLIAM T. HUDTWALKER

Principal

Congratulations to all of you upon your graduation. The award of a diploma is truly an indication of worthwhile achievement on your part. This becomes apparent when one realizes that only one pupil out of three who entered Metropolitan when you did received diplomas at graduation.

You needed certain traits of character to help you achieve your goal. Among these traits were hard work, interest in what you were doing, and a real desire to learn. You were persistent. While others dropped out, you carried on. At this moment you have every cause to be proud of your accomplishment.

It is my earnest hope that you will continue to make use of these strong points in your personality. If you do, you are bound to attain many other important goals in your future years.

My best wishes to you.

Sincerely,

NATHAN LULOFF
