ERNEST LUBIN

Heraclitus

They told me, Heraclitus, they told me you were dead, They brought me bitter news to hear, and bitter tears to shed.
I wept, as I remember'd how often you and I Had tired the sun with talking, and sent him down the sky.
And now that thou art lying, my dear old carian guest
A handful of grey ashes, long, long ago at rest, Still are thy pleasant voices, thy nightingales awake,
For death he taketh all away, but them he cannot take.

William Johnson Cory

Barlow Farm

The air feels good, Everything looks beautiful.

The dawn is here again, another once seemingly endless season now rapidly receding into memory.

Everything is warm,

New York is crawling again with open eyes and laughter, and the sun and moon have something to watch over and control again.

It feels good to share with so many mouths what's been locked up inside cold chambers for so long.

But something is missing.

I need a taste of you again to remind me that it's right for me to stand alone.

- Jane Martin

Vision of bodies -

Silhouettes against a dingy brick building

Smoke streaming from mouths forms embriodic clouds overhead.

Sunbeam on jagged block casts shadows beneath eyes.

Hazy profiles -

napsack backs -

blend into a sidewalk memory.

"You know, I'm the only one in this family who has no problems," Zooey said. "And you know why? Because anytime I'm feeling blue, or puzzled, what I do, I just invite a few people to come visit me in the bathroom, and well, we iron things out together, that's all."

For the Fearful

I see the sky becoming overcast beginning to drizzle
but only on you
You stand next to me on the subway drenched Salty raindrops hang from the corners of your smile
and I want to dry you off and take you home
But I can't because you need more you need you nonetheless I will give you all I can Sometimes I think if I were mine to give I would give ME to you and then you could know.
-Lori Bassin

His pants are not hemmed
At night he goes home and becomes someone else.
In securities and doubts of tomorrow's dawn.
Who hurt you in the morn?
Intrigued by his own rap.
But stolen by his inner being,
He weeps like a poet,
For he is too soft and remembers.
